SkyWest Airlines Announces Scott Vest as Director – People Resources and Development

For Immediate Release

St. George, UTAH, March 13, 2002 -- SkyWest Airlines is pleased to announce the promotion of Scott Vest to Director-People Resources and Development. Scott will report to Necia Clark-Mantle, Vice President-People at the airlines' corporate headquarters in St. George, Utah.

In his new position, Scott will be responsible for a team of approximately 15 employees involved in Corporate Recruitment, People Development, Business Development, Employee Relations and People Resources.

In addition to having served as People Program Manager at SkyWest for the past year, Scott brings to SkyWest experience at Dixie State College for four years where he was involved in both Campus Recruiting and Student/Faculty Relations. Scott earned his Business Administration Degree from Southern Utah University in 1997 and will earn his Master's Degree in Human Resource Management from Utah State University in August 2002.

"Scott has demonstrated natural leadership abilities", said Necia Clark-Mantle. "Equally as important, he is exceptionally enthusiastic about SkyWest and the employees who make this company work".

Scott will oversee People Development at SkyWest during a critical juncture in the airline's 30-year history. SkyWest has more than 60 Regional Jet aircraft scheduled for delivery over the next three years and will be adding to it's 4000-strong workforce in the process. His role in assuring a satisfied, content employee base will be vital to the airlines' continued success.

SkyWest Airlines is the nation's largest independently operated regional airline, and is based in St. George, Utah. SkyWest operates as United Express and Delta Connection under marketing agreements with United Airlines and Delta Air Lines, respectively. SkyWest serves 81 cities with approximately 1,000 daily departures in 23 states and two Canadian provinces.
